I really was not very well for several weeks; before and at Xmas continuous colds; but above all depression because the mentality here gets on my nerves. But at the same time skepticism against the German way of confronting (reacting to) all cultural things. The feeling to sit really between two stools, hence so-to-speak "inner cultural crisis". In addition difficulties in the question of what is most urgent to be done. (Animal) behavior? Going on and on with experiments? What promises the best success? What satisfies me most? That question is not yet completely clarified. But the depression is over; that you must have noticed from the tone of the letter. I start with pleasure the sectioning and staining. I have about 20 good cases of wing and leg extirpations, and I am sure that something will come of it. I have also caught fire again for the neuronal problems
